

Haviva Peters

From: [REDACTED]@aol.com
Sent: Sunday, March 06, 2016 4:58 PM
To: Haviva Peters
Subject: Book day

Dear Mrs Peters,

I wanted to take the time to tell you how much my daughter, Megan [REDACTED] (Efrat) loved the book day event. For over a week before she was in constant anticipation of the day discussing some of the details of the book and of the activities she knew were going to happen. And so many times when kids anticipate something I get nervous that they may end up getting disappointed. But in this case she definitely wasn't, in fact she called it the best day ever. Thank you for picking such an amazing book that taught so many lessons on different levels. For a long time I have been trying to teach Megan that there are people who live without all the amazing things that we have from the basic needs to the extravagant wants. But she never really understood or didn't believe me. But with this book she got it. And I loved that she learned about a completely different culture. And all the activities that were put together around this book were fun and great learning experiences.

Thank you again!!!

[REDACTED]