Tikkun Olam Service-Learning Project

We, the fifth grade community, request that we convert the Denver Jewish Day School faucets to automatic faucets.

Wasting water is a problem in our school. Kids may inadvertently leave the water running. Kids don't remember to turn the sinks off. Our faucets drip even when we try to turn them off all the way. Fresh water is a limited resource, and only 1% of our water on earth is drinkable. And it takes a a lot of energy to pump water to the school.

With new automatic faucets, the water won't drip. Automatic faucets are efficient because they shut off automatically. These new faucets can save money by saving water.
