Hey Raquel, look at all the beautiful pottery that your friends made. Do you want to reflect on what it meant for you this year even after Yom Kippur, making the pottery and saying the piyyut?

Well, on Yom Kippur we say how Hashem molds us like a potter but how He also gives us the opportunity to mold ourselves like a potter and to mold our destiny. And I kind of liked that we did this project because just like Mrs. Winslow was helping us make and mold our pots, she was kind of like our Navi or like our Hashem. We got to choose how we molded our own vessels and how we chose to shape them and shape our own destiny.

You want to see the one I made?

Sure. So this is the pot that I... (Drops pottery and it shatters.)

Whoa. That's exactly what happens with Yirmiyahu.

What happens now? The pot is broken. Our destiny has... Can I remold it?

No. Our destiny has been finalized. Or you can but, it is hard.

So the destiny has been finalized.

Yes.
